To Whom It May Concern:

Brandon Koble is an extremely versatile left handed pitcher, with a pitchers body, that has room for development and growth. Brandon shows command with an above average fastball that has made large velo gains in the past year. Brandon has swing and miss movement on his breaking pitches, and a developing changeup. He is willing to throw any pitch in any count and be successful. Brandon has high level mound presence with an ability to shut down an opponents running game, he also has a high baseball IQ that allows him to be a very effective fielding pitcher. I feel Brandon has a high ceiling for growth and development that would be a great addition to anyone's program.
